

Sierra GT

Sierra GT

Sierra and Sierra Estate GT

The Sierra GT has been created to meet the demands of those motorists for whom style and a distinctly sporty look and feel are high on the list of priorities. There are hatchback and estate body styles, both available with catalyst engines. Estate models come as standard with a stylish and functional integral roof rack, and hatchback models have a smart tailgate spoiler. All versions of the GT have stylish alloy wheels, special to the Sierra range, which enhance the sports image.

Power comes from the lively Ford 2.0 EFi DOHC engine, and five-speed manual transmission is standard. The quality, driveability and sporting appeal are instantly apparent, once driving the Sierra GT. The supportive sports seats provide a wide range of adjustment. Combined with the reach and rake adjustable steering column, it enables drivers of all shapes and sizes to find the driving position that's just right. The comprehensive instrumentation is exceptionally clear for quick reference, and the power-assisted steering system means effortless control. The well-equipped interior provides high standards of comfort for long and short-distance travel alike, and the trim fabric – Astral II – is also special to Sierra GT models. It comes in red or blue according to the exterior paint finish, and is both attractive and hard wearing. The electrically-operated front windows and easily-operated tilt-or-slide sunroof are among the major comfort and convenience features fitted as standard. Everyone on board can enjoy high quality listening pleasure, thanks to the Ford Electronic Self-Seek AM/FM Stereo Radio Cassette – Model 2006 RDS with 'Keycode' anti-theft coding and four speakers.
